

Super Hero Wanted

The Aleppo Membership Committee has immediate need for the following Super Hero's:

What-if-Man: What-if-Man brings big ideas to the table and brings the team along with him on the ride. He asks questions like "What if we...?"

Secret power: Helping everyone embrace the big idea, even though no one remembers who actually came up with it.

Activator-Man: Activator-Man makes stuff happen. Good stuff. Activator-Man takes, "What if we..." and turns it into, "Here's how we could..."

Secret power: Turning the constraints of time and budget into two more creative tools.

Technology-Man: Technology-Man knows what's possible -- and what might be possible if you just rejigger, reconfigure, work around or whatever.

Secret power: You'll never know if you don't bring him in right at kickoff.

Connector-Man: Connector-Man walks in your audience's shoes. He understands what peoples' needs are -- including how and where they might interact with Aleppo or our Hospital.

Secret power: Seeing the big picture, then bringing it down to earth, to the level of human experience.

Pragmatist-Man: The yin to the What-if-Man's yang. When What-if-Man says, "Let's reinvent the wheel," Pragmatist-Man says, "How about taking the wheel we've got and making it go where we want it to."

Secret power: Keeping the "big" in "big idea" alive, while embracing budget and timing realities.

Scriber-Man: Big ideas call for great writing, not just to bring them to life during the execution phase, but also to capture and refine them during the concepting phase.

Secret power: A master of disguises, finding exactly the right choice or words and tone for every project.

Visual-Man: Visual-Man doesn't just make ideas look good -- he makes images that help uncover and clarify ideas. And makes them look damn good.

Secret power: Creating images that prompt, "Yes! That's exactly what I was trying to say."

Divan-Man: Divan-Man knows that the big idea is only as good as its results. He sees things from the Divan's perspective: How can I sell this to the Divan or my Potentate? Does it fit into Aleppo's long-term plans?

Secret power: Disguising himself as just another member of the team -- but one who really gets it.

If you've read this far, you're either very interested or very bored. I'm going with the former.

The Membership Committee needs Creative Thinkers and Creative Doers. We meet monthly at Aleppo, but meetings are not mandatory. We have very active members of the Committee living in Florida who are still helping to increase and retain membership. We need new ideas, new ways of thinking, and new Super Heros.

HERITAGE FUND

By NOBLE CHARLES BOVAIRD

THE Heritage Fund plays a key role at Aleppo, and the Membership Committee wants to ensure that every Noble in the Temple knows about this fund and the value it provides.

By contributing to this fund, which is designed to help Nobles in need pay their dues, members can help safeguard the future of Aleppo's membership.

Any contribution is appreciated. We would like the Units to make donations of whatever they can afford. For individual Nobles, anything they can chip in is appreciated.

Aleppo Nobles need to know that if they have any questions, or if they are considering dropping their Shrine membership due to health or financial concerns, they should contact the Recorder's office or reach out to Noble Rich Doherty, P.P., at richdoherty2014@gmail.com or 781-944-5348.

Maybe we can help!
